As we celebrate 50 years in business, we reflect on our journey from a small office in Wallington to leading the UK construction supply industry.

From humble beginnings in Brian Reiner's garden shed to the third generation Daniel Reiner. Bryson has grown exponentially over the last 50 years with much more to come.

DID YOU KNOW...

The first screw pack deals were available from us

We now have a large team covering all areas of the country, including Northern Ireland

We now have a increased fleet (including Electric Vehicles) delivering to over 80% of the UK.

Today, Bryson are a leading supplier of site supplies to the construction industry, and that's largely thanks to our people, customers and suppliers, who have all helped us on this journey.

TURNING EVERYDAY ESSENTIALS INTO TREES

Imagine turning a routine purchase—like toilet paper—into an act of environmental conservation. Serious Tissue makes this possible by offering the UK's first carbon-neutral toilet paper, made entirely from recycled materials and free from plastic packaging. For each roll purchased, a tree is planted. Last year alone, over 500,000 trees were planted, transforming consumer habits into forest restoration.

SERIOUS TISSUES.

The Guardian GOOD HOUSEKEEPING TimeOut THE BIG ISSUE

Over 1.1 million trees planted so far.

We are pleased to announce we are Planet Mark Certified

Our goal is to reach Net Zero and we're delighted that in May this year, we achieved the Planet Mark Certification for our organisational Carbon Footprint. This demonstrates our commitment to measuring the carbon footprint of our business across Scope 1, 2 & 3 emissions.

We have set a ambitious reduction target of 8% for FY2024 and are working with Planet Mark to carry out our Net Zero Transition plan and seek SBTi validation.

TRANSFORMING CONSTRUCTION

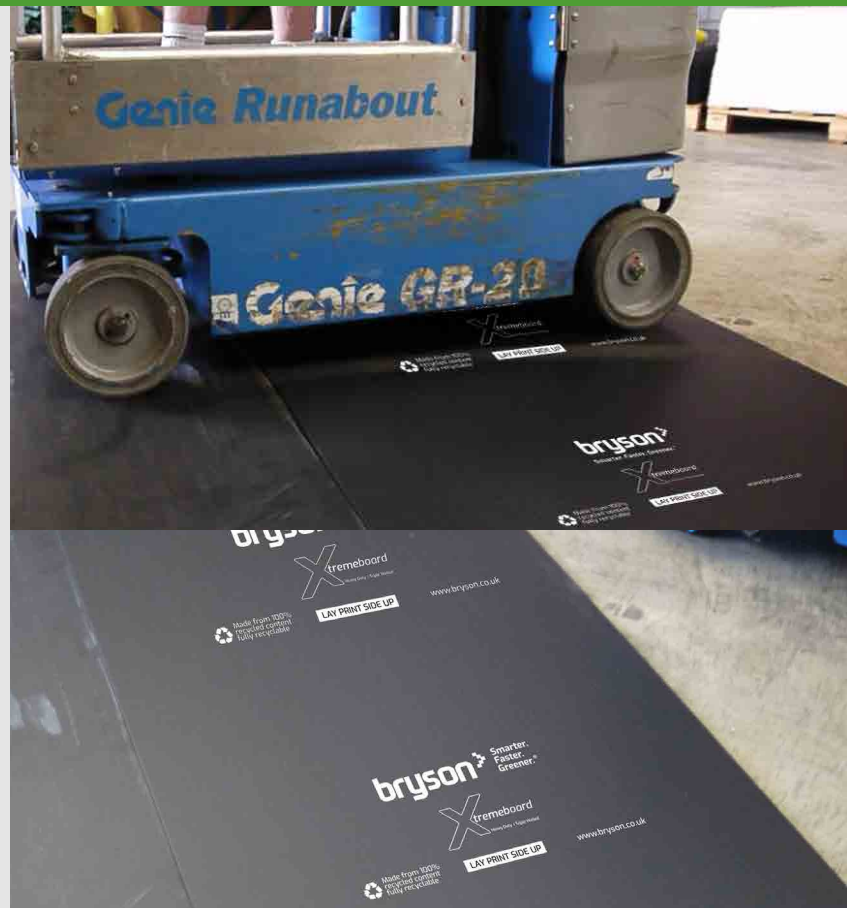

Our pioneering Closed Loop Recycling Scheme is designed to turn the tide on plastic waste by transforming used fluted polypropylene – commonly found in floor protection and signage – back into new, usable materials.

Join us in closing the loop on plastic waste—opt for Bryson's recycling program and make sustainability a cornerstone of your construction projects.

BRYSON XTREMEBOARD IMPACT PROTECTION BOARD

- Recyclable and made from 100% recycled content
- Triple walled, Waterproof, Non-toxic
- Heavy duty – withstands heavy traffic of 35lbs per sq cm
- A great alternative to plywood and timber
- Light compared to timber alternatives – can be carried by one person
- Does not warp

BRYBOARD

100% Recycled twin fluted board

Used for signage and recycled with our Closed Loop Recycling Scheme

Features:

- Lightweight and durable
- Weatherproof
- Suitable for indoor and outdoor

FAQs About Branded PPE, Clothing and Signs

Is branded PPE or custom products expensive?

No, to have items branded is low cost. Costing depends on the item you have chosen to brand.

Are your clothing, equipment and signs of good quality?

Yes. We only select the best products suitable for the construction industry, whether they are branded or not.

WORKING AT HEIGHT

Today, an increasing number of people are working at height. Your first priority will be fall protection and that's certainly important. But there needs to be an increased focus on dropped objects.

Tethering tools can, quite literally, be as easy as one, two, three.

The latest statistics from HSE's Riddor Report 2017/18 show that dropped objects still rank in the top 3 of the UK's workplace killers.

Falling objects also accounted for over 7,000 reported non-fatal injuries, with 75% of them resulting in over 7 days of lost work time each (2016/17).

Tether Point

Start with a tether point, many tools don't have an attachment point for tool lanyard

Tool Lanyard

Different types of tool lanyards for different equipment, tasks & environments. Assess both your tools & use, to pick which lanyard is most suitable

Anchor Point

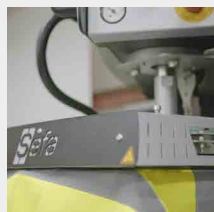

Lighter tools can be secured to a wristband, workbelt or harness. Heavier items tethered to a strong, fixed point
